Lawn

Broadleaf weeds in tall fescue, rye and blue grass lawns can not be treated until spring. Including wild garlic and onions.

If the weather permits, now is the time to adjust your lawns PH. Check the PH with a tester. If the PH is to low then add lime or if the PH is to high use iron sulfate to lower it.

Houseplants

Now is a good time to shop for house plants. Retail nurseries with green houses will have plenty of space to display and offer a good selection of house plants. Select low light tolerant and slow growing house plants. EX: Silver Queen Chinese Evergreen , Cast iron plant , Clivia , Corn Plant , Hawaiian Schefflera , or Golden Photos.

Weeping fig houseplants need to be kept in a well lit place and keep the soil on the dry side. When summered over outside they will be dropping lots of leaves indoor now. They will regrow new shade tolerant leaves. Feed them with sea mate when watering.

Bulbs/Seeds

Crocus and Hyacinths not planted, can be discarded in to the trash. Tulips and Daffodils can still be planted as soon as possible.

Shop now for flower and vegetable seeds, but do not start the seeds to early indoors.

Perennials

In the mid atlantic states you can dig up and divide hardy Hibiscus. After adding Canadian Sphagnum peat moss to the soil (1 cuft per 10 sqft) replant the divided plants in the same beds. Any extra plants, plant them in another sunny location A.S.A.P after dividing. Do not feed the Hibiscus until early spring. Feed them with Plant Trust flower and bulb food.

Snow

Now the snow has arrived in the Northern broadcast area. Click hear to see the snow caster video. And snow wolf videos.
